IF CERVERA IS THERE.

Doubt Exists as to Location of Spanish Fleet.

MAY NOT BE BOTTLED UP.

But the General Impression Is That He Is Corked.

HE IS SURELY DONE FOR IF HE IS.

It Would Be Mere Pastime For the American Battleships to Destroy the Spanish Cruisers Now in Hiding in Some Cuban Marsh.

Off the Northern Coast of Cuba, May 28.—If Commodore Schley has successfully accomplished his object, there now seems nothing to prevent active operations upon the part of the army. That is the idea of the best naval authorities.

The climate in Cuba is not what it was a month ago, but it is much better than it will be a month hence, and before another Spanish fleet can reach these waters the naval authorities hope to see our troops in possession of a base of operations in Cuba.

Intense enthusiasm reigns among the officers and men over the news, even though it is not absolutely certain, of the success of the work of the last month.

If Commodore Schley has really got the Spanish fleet at Santiago de Cuba it is almost as complete a victory as could have been expected from a naval engagement.

The Spaniards' policy was to avoid an encounter, and it would have been difficult for any division of Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet to have overhauled or captured them.

But now, if they are bottled up in Santiago de Cuba and baffled at their own game, the future seems bright and all that is now waited for is the order to prepare to protect the landing of our military forces in Cuba.

Since Rear Admiral Sampson's squadron left Key West an intensely close watch has been kept for the Spanish fleet, in spite of the belief that it was at the south of Cuba.

Several false alarms have been given, the men on the lookout in the tops being so anxious to catch sight of the Spaniards that they would see five columns of smoke where only one was really discernible, and that the smoke of one of Rear Admiral Sampson's own boats.

The tension was naturally great. This was not caused by any feeling of doubt as to the result of a naval engagement, for Rear Admiral Sampson's fleet has been so active since it left Key West that the Spaniards would have been completely annihilated if they had courted a fight.

The fleet as at present constituted, without Commodore Schley's command, and without the ships actually engaged in the blockade, forms the most powerful squadron ever gotten together by the United States navy.

Then again, Commodore Schley's ships are fully able to defeat the Spanish force under Admiral Cervera, even under conditions favorable to the enemy, a state of things which is thought to exist at Santiago de Cuba.

It would be mere pastime for the Massachusetts, Texas and Iowa to sink the Vizcaya, Almirante Oquendo, Cristobal Colon and Maria Teresa if they attempted to file out of the harbor.

Naval Reserves Arrive.

Key West, May 28.—One-half of the Chicago naval reserves, consisting of 203 men and three officers under command of Lieutenant S. W. Stratton, arrived here on the steamer Mascotte from Tampa. They left Chicago on Tuesday and made the journey without incident. All the men are well.

WITH THE VOLUNTEERS.

Interesting Budget of News From Chickamauga Park.

Chattanooga, May 28.—The big volunteer army at Chickamauga now numbers nearly 45,000 men, and it continues to grow.

The Sixty-ninth New York, the First Arkansas, the Fifth Missouri and three troops of the Third volunteer cavalry went into camp. Together these commands number about 3,500 men.

The Sixty-ninth New York, 1,026 men, under Colonel Edward Duffy, was delayed by a slight wreck. This regiment attracts great attention because it is composed entirely of Irishmen.

Troops A, C and D, 227 men of Colonel Grigsby's cowboy regiment, remained in their cars until morning, when they got away to the park.

Nearly all the men of the Fourth Ohio regiment are in an unenviable plight. They marched to the hospital quarters in companies and were vaccinated. Now their arms are very sore and it is almost impossible for them to drill. Drills will probably be suspended for a few days.

The Pennsylvania soldiers, about 6,000 in all, are happy over the announcement that they will at once receive pay for the 15 days they spent in camp before being mustered into the service of the United States. This money, which amounts to about $35,000, will be paid by the state of Pennsylvania.

The pipe lines to nearly all the commands in the park were completed, and hereafter there can be no complaint about water. This is the quickest job of pipe laying ever done in the south.

Numerous complaints are being made by men of various regiments of the army, but according to good authority these complaints are not well founded. Those who are complaining are doubtless men who can not make up their minds to endure the hardships attendant upon army life.

Brigadier General A. S. Burt and staff left Chickamauga for Tampa, Fla., where they have been assigned to duty. The departure of General Burt leaves the First brigade, First division, First corps of the army, without a commander. Colonel C. B. Hunt of the First Ohio will be in command until the place is filled.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Dispatch Boats May Be Sent In Search of the American Fleets.

Washington, May 28.—The military situation, as at present determined upon by those in authority, is to make no forward movement of troops either upon Porto Rico or Cuba until full and definite information is received as to the location of the Spanish squadron, and its possibilities as a factor in the aggressive movements of Spain.

Steps have been taken to secure early information as to whether Admiral Cervera's squadron is inside Santiago harbor and whether the American squadron has such advantage of position outside the harbor as to make the escape of the Spaniards practically impossible.

Unless the navy department succeeds in securing some direct and official information respecting the Spanish and the American fleets within the next 24 hours through the aid of the West Indian cables, it will resort to the use of dispatch boats.

It is understood that the government has decided to pay Mr. Holland a stipulated sum for each Spanish ship he destroys with his submarine wonder.

Great Enthusiasm at Honolulu.

San Francisco, May 28.—The steamer China, which stopped at Honolulu on her way from the orient, reports that the people of that city were making great preparations to receive the transport fleet which left this city for Manila, and which will stop at Honolulu en route. The town is being decorated with flags and bunting and the freedom of the city will be offered to the men on the steamships. The China passed the transport City of Peking, City of Sydney and the Australia, and reports the three vessels as proceeding westerly at great speed with all well on board.

Tendered to Uncle Sam.

Honolulu, May 28.—There is no doubt whatever that the Hawaiian government has made a distinct tender of the islands to the executive of the United States. A reply to it is being awaited here. This reply will probably reach Honolulu by the next mail. The mere fact that the transports are coming here and the island used as a basis for supplies for the Manila squadron makes a large number of people think the offer will undoubtedly be accepted.

Second Manila Expedition.

San Francisco, May 28.—After a careful inspection of the 7,000 troops now at Camp Richmond it was officially announced that the second Manila expedition would probably be composed of the First Colorado regiment, 1,008 men; the First Nebraska regiment, 1,020 men, and the Thirtieth Minnesota regiment, 1,030 men; a total of 3,058 volunteers.

Rules For Immunes.

Washington, May 28.—The war department has issued a series of general rules for the examination of applicants for commissions in the United States volunteer infantry immune regiments. Applicants will be examined with reference to their mental, moral and physical fitness to hold a commission and perform the duties which a regiment.

More Steamers Chartered.

Washington, May 28.—The war department chartered the steamers China and Colon of the Pacific Mail Steamship company, which, with the Centennial, the Zealandia and the Ohio, will comprise the expedition to the Philippines leaving some time next week. They will carry 5,000 men.

First Exchange of Prisoners.

Washington, May 28.—The State department has been notified by British consul Gollan at Havana that the exchange of prisoners has been effected, and the Maple with Charles Thrall and Hayden Jones, the American correspondents, on board, has sailed for Key West.

No Doubt About Cervera's Whereabouts. Chicago, May 28.—A private cable from a reliable person in Port au Prince, dated May 25, asserts that he had positive information at that time Admiral Cervera's fleet was in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba.

Will Go to Chickamauga.

Little Rock, May 28.—Colonel Cook of the Second regiment of Arkansas volunteer infantry received orders from the war department to move his command at once to Chickamauga. The regiment will probably leave Little Rock Saturday.

San Francisco, May 28.—The steamship China left Hongkong April 30, and, accordingly, did not bring any mail advices as to the engagement at Manila.

Movements of Commodore Schley.

Key West, May 28.—Part of Commodore Schley's squadron sailed for the west end of Cuba about noon Thursday, May 1. It consisted of the Brooklyn, Texas, Massachusetts and Scorpion. The Iowa sailed several hours later. The advance guard of Commodore Schley's fleet was at Cienfuegos on Sunday, May 22, where it was joined by the Iowa, Eagle and Vixen, and later by the Marblehead. On Tuesday the fleet steamed for Santiago.

Stand of Colors Presented.

Chickamauga Park, Ga., May 28.—The Fourth Ohio volunteer infantry, drawn up in a hollow square, received the beautiful stand of colors in front of Colonel Colt's headquarters at sunset. This stand is the finest that the Columbus board of trade could buy. Second Lieutenant T. Perry Williams, acting regimental adjutant for the day, had the honor to present the flag to the colonel, who in turn turned it over to the stalwart color guard. The Fourth turned out without arms.

To Go to the Philippines.

Washington, May 28.—Adjutant General Corbin announced that three of the brigadier generals appointed by the president would be officially designated as soon as the senate had confirmed their nominations, to command troops in the Philippines. The generals selected for the Philippines expedition are George A. Garrettsen of Cleveland, Francis V. Greene of New York and Charles King of Wisconsin.

In Cabanas Fortress.

Key West, May 28.—E. P. Knight, the correspondent of the London Times, who on Sunday night when seven miles off Havana was lowered over the bow of a dispatch boat and rowed ashore alone in a ten-foot skiff, has been heard from. He has been thrown in prison and is now in the Cabanas fortress. Alexander Gollan, the British consul at Havana, has instituted proceedings for his release.

Want Their Pay.

Chickamauga Park, Ga., May 28.—"When will we get paid?" That is the question that is heard on all sides among the Ohio regiments. Both officers and men are shy on dollars and some of the soldiers have not enough to purchase a postage stamp. When the boys see troops from other states jingling the coin in their pockets, it makes them sore.

Still Hunting For Cervera.

Key West, May 28.—Up to 11 o'clock Friday morning nothing had been seen of the Spanish fleet. Should Commodore Schley be able to drive the enemy to take refuge in some Cuban port on the south coast and bottle him up, the plans of both navy and army could at once take definite shape.

Fire Promptly Returned.

Key West, May 28.—A sergeant of artillery on duty at a mortar battery near Fort Taylor was fired upon by three unknown men, whom he says he knows to be Spaniards. The fire was promptly returned, but the men escaped.

Encountered Storm.

Key West, May 28.—The rainy season is just beginning in Cuba and the fleet of warships and newspaper dispatch boats have experienced bad weather during the past week with violent rainstorms.

Sampson Is at Santiago.

Madrid, May 28.—Blanco cables that Cervera's squadron is still at Santiago and that the bulk of Sampson's squadron is blockading that port. Schley's squadron is watching the Yucatan passage.

BUSINESS INCREASING.

War Seems to Have a Stimulating Effect on Country.

New York, May 28.—R. C. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says: The nation faces war with reviving volume of business. The west is doing its part and more, but at the east also the volume of business is now expanding.

Without abatement in any important line, the great outgo of wheat and corn continues to stimulate business at the west.

Official and all other accounts agree in estimating that the wheat yield will be remarkably large this year in spite of the fact that the California crop has been much damaged by want of rain.

Starting this month with the greatest consumption ever known, the iron industry has made surprising progress in new orders, which reached about 100,000 tons in bars alone.

Failures for the week have been 245 in the United States against 214 last year, and 21 in Canada against 22 last year.

Situation at Manila Unchanged.

Hong Kong, May 28.—The United States auxiliary gunboat Zafire, formerly a British merchant steamer, but now commissioned, mounting four guns and in charge of a lieutenant commander of the United States navy, has arrived here from Manila, having on board the captain of the first-class cruiser Olympia, flagship of Rear Admiral Dewey, and two officers who have been invalided. The situation at Manila is unchanged. The insurgents are quiet. The report that the commander of the Spanish gunboat Callao was tried by court-martial and shot for not firing on the American ship which captured the Callao is untrue.

A Feeling of Sadness.

Madrid, May 28.—The feeling of sadness in Spain is less on account of ministerial dissensions than on account of a fuller apprehension that it is hopeless to expect any assistance from Europe, even France and Russia being sincere, and Mr. Chamberlain's speech averse from doing anything to precipitate complications. Spain now sees that she must trust to herself alone in an unequal struggle that can have only one end.

Storm Sweeps Over St. Louis.

St. Louis, May 28.—A terrific rain and windstorm broke over this city and prevailed for half an hour. This being the second anniversary of the terrible tornado that caused such great destruction of life and property in this city and vicinity, many people were terror-stricken, fearing another such visitation. No reports of damage have been received.

Strange Noise Explained.

Tacoma, May 28.—A strange, rumbling sound heard in this city has been explained by settlers down from the base of Mount Rainier, who say an avalanche occurred at that time, the Bowitzer glacier being rent in twain. Acres of snow, ice and rocks plunged furiously down the mountain side. No damage was done as no one lives in the track of the great slide.

POWDER MILL EXPLODES.

One Man Killed and Another One Seriously Injured.

Hazardville, Conn., May 28.—The Corning mill of the Hazard Powder company, in which fuses were prepared, exploded. Alfred Diunden was killed and Foreman James Colburn was seriously injured. The mill was a small building.

The San Francisco Charter.

San Francisco, May 28.—The new charter submitted to the electors of this city has been carried by a majority approximating 2,000. The new charter, which will go into effect on Jan. 1, 1900, possesses many of the features of the Chicago charter. The new San Francisco charter includes as one of its features the initiative and referendum.

Train Crew Killed.

Chattanooga, May 28.—A special from Oakdale says an engine collided with the Oakdale accommodation north of Chattanooga, on the Cincinnati Southern railroad. The crew on the engine, composed of Conductor Simpson, Engineer Hudson, Fireman Edwards and two brakemen, Matthews and Swanson, were all killed.

Mrs. Day Better.

Cleveland, May 28.—Mrs. William R. Day, the wife of the secretary of state, who has for some time past been under the treatment at the Cleveland hospital, is rapidly recovering. Mrs. Day expects to leave for Canton and Washington soon.

All Mail to Be Forwarded.

Washington, May 28.—First Assistant Postmaster General Heath said that hereafter second and third class mail will be forwarded to soldiers in the same manner as letters.

BITTER AGAINST POWERS.

Expected Them to Rush In at Her Beck and Call.

NOW THEY KEEP OUT OF WAY.

Chamberlain's Speech Is Responsible For This, the Other Alleged European Powers Realizing They Were Playing Near a Dangerous Volcano.

Madrid, May 28.—Before Senor Gullon, minister of foreign affairs in the late cabinet resigned, he ascertained that the powers would receive favorably complaints of any illegal war operations such as Spain is now making. The Spanish press bitterly laments the selfish motive underlying the reluctance of the powers to intervene. It is now seen that Spain is isolated, and the idea is growing that better terms may be attained by a direct understanding with President McKinley.

Could Not Believe It.

Madrid, May 28.—In the senate Marshal Primo de Rivera, former captain general of the Philippines, defended his administration of the colony. He said he could not believe his ears when he was told of the disaster at Cavite, adding: "That rag called the American flag shall never float over the walls of Manila."

French Duel Fought.

Paris, May 28.—As the outcome of an election dispute M. Henry Rochefort, the editor of L'Intransigeant, and M. Gerault Richard, the former Socialist deputy, fought a "duel." M. Rochefort was pricked on his right hand—almost sufficient to cause blood to flow.

Spaniard Files German Flag.

Madrid, May 28.—The North German Lloyd mail steamer Havel, after having been sold to the Trans-Atlantic company of Barcelona, which acts for the Spanish government, is now on her way to Cadiz. The steamer will fly the German colors as far as Cape Finisterre.

Changed Her Course.

Madrid, May 28.—Blanco cables that the torpedo boat destroyer Terror has arrived at Fajardo, Porto Rico. She intended to go to San Juan, but found four American warships cruising in front of the harbor.

Arbitration to Be Suggested.

Madrid, May 28.—One who notices a "feeling in favor of an honorable peace," believes that one of the powers will suggest arbitration when a fitting opportunity appears.

Several of Them There.

Madrid, May 28.—A dispatch from Havana says Captain General Blanco has received news that nearly 30 American vessels were seen in front of Cardenas.

Statement Reiterated.

Madrid, May 28.—The impartial reiterates that Admiral Cervera is at Santiago de Cuba, which port it says possesses advantages over Cienfuegos.

OFFICIALS ELECTED.

The Iron Workers Will Hold Next Meeting in Detroit.

Cincinnati, May 28.—The Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers elected the following officers: President, T. J. Shaffer, Pittsburg; secretary and treasurer, John Williams, Pittsburg; assistant secretary and treasurer, Stephen Madden, Pittsburg.

Madden and Williams changed places. Ben L. Davies was elected as a new trustee. John Pierce and Daniel Mullane were elected trustees. The duties of the trustees consists of auditing accounts every three months and holding the bonds of the officers.

Detroit and Youngstown, O., had a close fight to get next year's convention. Detroit won the fight by one.

The Hawaiian Rider.

Washington, May 28.—The Hawaiian annexation question, which has been the subject of no little concern about the senate for the past few days, assumed definite shape in the senate when Senators Lodge and Morgan offered amendments to the war revenue bill bearing directly upon the subject. Senator Lodge's amendment is in the words of the Newland resolution and provides in direct terms for the annexation of the island.

OUR OLD DOCTORS.

Brief Biographical Sketches of Some Maysville Physicians.

Deserved Tributes To Dr. John Shackelford, Dr. Moses F. Adamson, Dr. John P. Phister, Dr. John M. Duke and Dr. S. M. Cartmell.

The recent meeting of the State Medical Association in Maysville gives a peculiar interest to the following biographical notes. The eulogy is strong, but not undeserved, and brings us into inspiring touch with the generations that are past. As an English statesman has wisely remarked, "We love to hear our fathers praised. It is a precedent for the blood turning out well."

DR. JOHN SHACKLEFORD.
 From a sketch in the "Biographical Encyclopedia of Kentucky," we learn that Doctor John Shackelford "was the eldest son of James and Elizabeth Shackelford, and was born March 8th, 1802, in Mason County, Ky. His father was of English ancestry and a native of Fauquier County, Va. Dr. Shackelford was educated in the private schools of Mason County, and at the age of eighteen began reading medicine under the supervision of Dr. John T. Henry at Washington, "the old county seat; and afterwards completed this course of reading with Dr. Basil Duke. He attended lectures at Transylvania University and after a thorough preparation of five years duration, entered upon the practice of his profession at Maysville, where he resided until his death in January, 1885, having practiced medicine in one locality for nearly sixty years." He owed his professional distinction chiefly to his skill as a surgeon, and the work that he did in this branch of his art would have given him distinction anywhere. He always took an active interest in public affairs. He was a Whig in politics, and, though a slaveholder, was an emancipationist. At the opening of hostilities between the North and South, he became an ardent Republican and gave to the administration of Mr. Lincoln the most loyal and cordial support. He was a prominent and active member of the Christian Church, though in his early life a devout Presbyterian, and but for certain scruples in regard to baptism, would doubtless have remained so until the end. But heretofore association had made him a thoroughbred Calvinist, and no denominational affiliations could change him in this respect. "In the main," says his friend Col. Wadsworth, "he was a most complete man. Whoever saw such a radiant face in the social circle or knew a heart more capable of joy? The faults he had belonged less to his nature than to the times. Dishonesty, meanness, hypocrisy, how they raised his indignation; and, yet, the lighter virtues shone in every action of his life,—unflinching politeness; deference towards the other sex; regard for the feelings of others, in conversation, attentiveness and consideration, without flattery or insincerity of any kind,—for no one maintained his own opinion (and he always had one) more stoutly. His mind was entirely free from hesitation or vacillation; it needed, therefore, only that he should believe in anything strongly to make that an absolute verity for him." Dr. Lewis Frazee, of Louisville, (a physician of whose character and accomplishments his professional brethren in Mason County will always be proud), says of Dr. Shackelford as he appeared in his prime that he was "a grand model for the young, with the highest sense of honor, only exacting of others that which he himself was ready to yield, while to the younger members of the profession he was always most considerate and kind." In person he was tall, erect and graceful, of handsome countenance, lighted with beautiful blue eyes, and with those simple charming manners which all admired and none could resist.
 "For manners are not idle, but the fruit Of loyal nature and of noble mind."

DR. MOSES F. ADAMSON.
 Dr. Adamson belonged to a somewhat later generation than Dr. Shackelford, but, like him, was born in Mason County; received his elementary training at the country schools, and attended lectures at the Medical Department of Transylvania University, which was then the leading medical institution of the West. He was born near the town of Mayslick on the 9th day of January, 1815; and, but for the circumstance that his father was a Whig, he would probably have been born on the previous day. The surroundings of his early life were very much like those depicted in the "Recollections" of Dr. Drake; and to have triumphed over the disadvantages and drawbacks inseparable from a disreputable life, is itself a proof of uncommon native force. It is possible that in his selection of a life pursuit, young Adamson was influenced in some measure by the example of Dr. Drake. Be this as it may, the selection was wisely made. He was thoroughly devoted to his chosen profession, and, as a result of this unwearied assiduity, he established a practice in the city of Maysville and in the adjoining country, which he held to the close of his professional career, being greatly assisted in this struggle for success by certain personal qualities, which in all civilized communities, count for much. His professional reputation rested upon a personal character which was above reproach. He was absolutely free from the mean and degrading vices which at that period, even more than now, were the bane of social life. It may truly be said of Dr. Adamson as Dr. Gross has said of Daniel Drake, that "he never used alcoholic drinks, that he never chewed, smoked, nor snuffed tobacco, that he knew nothing of cards;" and it may be added that he never visited a theatre, nor attended a horse race, nor frequented a "saloon;" and, after a manly struggle, he succeeded in achieving a creditable degree of professional success, it was chiefly attributable to the fact that he was not hampered by embarrassing associations, or handicapped by degrading vices,—large or small. His moral life rested upon a religious basis. He was for many years a prominent, useful, consistent and influential member of the Methodist Church, South. His life was strictly conformed to the obligations which this relationship imposed, and, down to the very close of his long and useful career, he was profoundly absorbed in all questions relating to the welfare and advancement of the church. And, yet, he was as little of a zealot or ascetic or bigot as an honest and avowed sectarian under the daily provocations of antagonistic creedsmen, could well be supposed to be. While strong and serene in the settled faith of his childhood, he was full of all pleasant simplicities and uncalculating charities; he was wholly without affectation or pretensions in his social life; he looked out upon men and their little affairs with a cheerful, kindly eye, and brightened the modest circle in which he moved with many a thoughtful, generous and unselfish act. He indulged no ambition beyond the simple duties of his chosen vocation, but devoted himself to the practice of medicine in his native county for a period of nearly, if not quite fifty years—years of incessant laborious effort which made deep inroads upon a constitution originally strong—and at last passed quietly away, leaving behind him countless testimonials of a life devoted to the service of humanity, and faithfully and honorably spent. He died—all too soon—in the seventieth year of his age; barely touching the limit which the Psalmist has allotted to the life of man. His native, constitutional vigor ought to have carried him many years beyond it.

 though belonging to a still later generation of local physicians, is equally entitled to an honorable remembrance in a community which, for many years and in varied capacities, he served with cheerful diligence, and with uncommon intelligence, fidelity and skill. He was a son of Conrad Phister, one of the most honorable and useful of our Pennsylvanian pioneers; was a younger brother of the able and accomplished lawyer, Judge Elijah C. Phister, and carried into the profession of medicine the same moral energies and mental aptitudes which had made the elder brother conspicuous and successful at the bar. He received his academic training at the Maysville Seminary, having for a schoolmate a silent, sturdy little fellow from beyond the river, by the name of Ulysses S. Grant, of whom, it is said, that he always cherished, even in the midst of a busy and brilliant military and political career, a pleasant recollection of his sprightly young playmate at the old school house on the hill. After reading medicine in the office of Dr. John Shackelford, young Phister attended a full course of lectures at the Louisville school, which had been made famous as a medical institution by the advancing reputation of the distinguished surgeon Dr. Gross. Upon graduation, he settled to the practice of medicine in his native town. The files of the press and the public records bear ample testimony to the activity and usefulness of Doctor Phister's public and professional career. In municipal affairs especially he established an enviable reputation for energy, sagacity and unflinching fidelity and good sense. Upon the social life of the community he impressed himself in the most agreeable manner, and will long be remembered for his genial disposition and for that playful, spontaneous humor which seemed to be perpetual in its flow.

DR. JOHN M. DUKE
 was born at Washington, Ky., October 23, 1811. He was a son of Dr. Basil Duke, one of the pioneer physicians of Mason County. His mother was a sister of Chief Justice Marshall. He was educated under the eye of his uncle, Dr. Louis Marshall, one of the finest scholars of that day, and all the associations of his early life were of a character to ensure success in any professional vocation he might adopt. He chose the profession of medicine and devoted himself with energy and enthusiasm to the preliminary work. His preceptor, Dr. J. F. Henry, of Washington, Ky., was an accomplished physician and eminently competent, not only to teach, but to inspire a pupil who was ambitious to learn. His year with Dr. Henry was profitably spent. He attended his first course of lectures at the Lexington school, and afterwards matriculated at the Medical College of Ohio, graduating in 1832. He first began to practice in his native town, Washington, but soon decided to try the somewhat larger field at Maysville; and it was here that his life's work was done,—and done with a thoroughness, fidelity and zeal that left but little ground for criticism or complaint. His professional qualifications were of the highest order and there was no branch of the profession in which he might not have achieved success. As a diagnostician he was unsurpassed by any practitioner of his day in Kentucky; and as a therapeutist he obtained an easy superiority by judiciously modifying the "heroic" methods then in vogue. He had a fine aptitude for general surgery (more aptitude than taste), and, like the famous Abernethy, could operate skillfully "when a knife was placed in his hand;" but it was in the great emergencies of obstetrical surgery that he exhibited peculiar boldness and skill; and, as many living monuments attest, it was in this field that he operated with exceptional skill and success. Here,—however formidable or complicated the situation, he seemed to be perfectly at home. In the high and palmy decade immediately preceding the war,—when society was flush and full of life and charm, this handsome and graceful and accomplished gentleman enjoyed a social and professional celebrity which, under the chafed conditions of our social life, is seldom attained by the struggling practitioners of the present day.

In public affairs Dr. Duke was always at the front, and any movement in which he engaged felt at once the effects of his intelligence, decision and force. While an acknowledged leader in crises demanding high courage and unbounding will (such as often occurred during our civil war), he had no aptitude or capacity for the petty and degrading intrigues of common life, and in the competitions of such a field might have utterly failed, where meaner spirits easily achieved success.
 Dr. Duke was singularly attractive in his person and his manners. A little above the middle height, with a large, well-shaped head; fine, regular features; dark expressive eyes, and a composed, serious countenance that easily relaxed into a winning smile—he was a man who captivated you at once by the simplicity of his manners and the indescribable distinction of his air and address. In the latter days of his professional career he found a congenial partner in the subject of our closing sketch—

DR. SIMON MORGAN CARTMELL.
 Dr. Cartmell, son of David Cartmell, was born January 2nd, 1818, in Charleston, West Virginia. His father was a lawyer by profession and possessed talents of a high order. His mother, Nancy Morgan, was a daughter of Simon Morgan, a Virginian officer in the Revolutionary army. After the death of her husband in 1833, Mrs. Cartmell removed with her family to Fleming County, Kentucky, and it was in the private schools of that county and at the Flemingsburg Academy that young Cartmell received his preliminary education. In 1836 he began reading medicine at Flemingsburg under the direction of Dr. L. D. Anderson, an accomplished medical scholar. He subsequently attended lectures at Transylvania, and graduated in 1838. After practicing his profession for several years at Concord, Ky., he decided to attend medical lectures in the East, and, in 1851, he entered the University of Pennsylvania. He received his medical degree from this institution in 1852. On his return to Kentucky, he settled to the practice of his profession at Washington, but upon the breaking out of hostilities in 1861, he entered the Government service as Surgeon of the Sixteenth Kentucky Volunteer Infantry and during the campaign in Georgia, Tennessee and Kentucky was for three years in active service. In the field, during which time he acquired that rare skill in the treatment of gun-shot wounds which gave him his special reputation as a medical man.

D. HUNT & SON.

 In 1864 he returned to Mason County where he formed a partnership with Dr. John Marshall Duke, at that time one of the most popular and successful physicians in this State. Dr. Cartmell continued in active practice until within a few months of his death. There was a lesson in the life of this distinguished gentleman which ought not to be lost. He represented, in his manner and his methods, a school of physicians that is now almost extinct, bringing down with him the fine traditions of an elder day, and blending the professional and personal characteristics of that early period with all that is most valuable and practically effective in the theories and methods of the present day. He was a close and interested student to the last, adopting with wonderful readiness and enthusiasm, and applying with singular success every process, method, principle, or device which modern science has contributed to the advancement of the medical art. Finally, and above all, he was a highbred gentleman in all the relations of life, and his memory will always be cherished wherever his character was known. His modesty, his dignity, his simplicity; his thoughtfulness, his sympathy, his self-renunciation, his contempt for mercenary methods and for every sort of professional indirection, subterfuge and sham; all these characteristics were so happily blended with the finest professional tact and skill, that he will long survive in the memory of this generation as a physician of the first order and as a gentleman of the highest type.

ALTHOUGH a very busy man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has found time in which to write a great book of over a thousand pages entitled, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, in Plain English, or Medicine Simplified." Few books printed in the English language have reached so great a sale as has this popular work, over 600,000 copies having been sold at $1.50 each. The profits on this enormous sale having repaid its author for the great amount of labor and money expended on its production he has now decided to give away, absolutely free, 500,000 copies of this valuable book, the recipient only being required to mail to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., of which company he is President, twenty-one (21) one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, and the book will be sent postpaid. It is a veritable medical library, complete in one volume. It contains 1008 large pages, and over 300 illustrations, some of them in colors. The Free Edition is precisely the same as that sold at $1.50 except only that the books are bound in strong manilla paper covers, instead of cloth. It is not often that our readers have an opportunity to obtain a valuable book on such generous terms, and we predict that few will miss availing themselves of the unusual and liberal offer to which we have called their attention.

A NEGRO boy named Williams living at Poplar Plains was jailed at Flemingsburg Wednesday for maliciously shooting at Frazee Hart, son of Hon. R. K. Hart, and three or four other boys. The Times Democrat says the boys were shooting at birds with a flobert rifle in the yard of J. W. Patrick, when the negro boy who did the shooting ordered them to stop or he would stop them. As they did not heed his orders he walked out with his shotgun and fired on the party, sprinkling three of the five. A few shot penetrated the clothing on the back of Frazee Hart, one or two struck the Peters boy in the forehead but did not penetrate the skull, while a little negro boy, who was of the party, also caught a few.

TWENTY-ONE young ladies were graduated Thursday from the Midway Orphan School, among them Miss Nannie Wallingford, of Fleming County.

She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. SOLD HORSES FOR A FORTUNE.

A Kentucky Man Who Made New York Swells Pay High Prices.

[Louisville Commercial.]

Mr. H. G. McElwaine, of Richmond, was at the Willard Hotel Wednesday night, returning from Greater New York, where he has been for the past four months disposing of some fine horses, in which he is a noted Kentucky dealer. He thinks good horses are higher now than they have ever been, and says he is willing to pay more for them and can sell them for even better prices than they brought some few years ago, when the high tide in horse flesh was reached.

During the recent trip Mr. McElwaine sold one horse for $2,000, got $2,000 for another and disposed of several at prices ranging from $1,000 to $1,200. He sold a number of teams at from $800 to $1,800. Breyton Ives, the Wall street magnate, paid him $2,600 for Cerro Gordo, and the Vanderbilts fancied three of the steeds he had and went deep into their pockets to get them. Pulitzer, the owner of the World, was another millionaire to buy of Mr. McElwaine.

Mr. McElwaine recently sold Cleopatra to Clarence W. Mackey, the silver king, for his bride, who was Katherine Duer. Mr. Mackey brought Mrs. Mackey down to see the almost perfect animal and after the bride had fed it a little sugar the purchase was made, the price, though not known, being a very large one.

LARGE ERECTION FUND.

Contributions to Presbyterian Cause Liberal.

AVERAGE DONATION SMALL.

But There Are More Contributors Than Formerly, and For This Reason the Showing Has Exceeded All Expectations.

Winona Lake, Ind., May 28.—At the Presbyterian assembly a report regarding the church erection fund was submitted.

It showed slight increase in the total of contributions, the number of contributors being larger, but the average contribution smaller than last year. The number of applications for aid has also been reduced somewhat, but a total of 213 churches had been aided in some way to the aggregate of $126,421.

The total value of churches and manse completed with this aid was $423,827. The total amounts asked for aggregated $161,788 from 196 applicants.

The income of the board had been $81,194 for the general fund from all sources $46,714 having been contributed by the churches. The manse fund received $16,771 and the loan fund $31,252, a part of which consisted of returned loans. The whole income was $129,219.

During the 12 years since the manse fund was started 438 houses have been erected by means of aid aggregating $164,322.

Restitution After Many Years.

English, Ind., May 28.—P. T. Flannigan, merchant of St. Croix, found a letter underneath his bedroom door which contained $280, accompanied by a short explanation, in effect that the writer had robbed the merchant's till several years ago, and he wished to make restitution by returning the principal now, the interest to follow. The writer also said he would expose another thief who had robbed the same merchant unless he also made restitution.

To Break an Editor's Will.

Shelbyville, Ind., May 28.—At the death of W. Scott Ray, editor and proprietor of the Shelbyville Daily and Weekly Democrat about one year ago, he left a will bequeathing his estate to his four single sisters, who lived with their bachelor brother. There are six other brothers and sisters who are not mentioned in the will, one of whom, Mrs. Eugenia Cory, filed suit of contest, alleging that deceased was of unsound mind at the time of making the will.

Died In Her Mother's Arms.

Indianapolis, May 28.—Mrs. Donnelly and her 16-year-old daughter, Mrs. Alice Cummings, retired together. About midnight Mrs. Cummings complained to her mother that she felt very tired, and Mrs. Donnelly took her in her arms, and both fell asleep again. When the mother again awoke she found her daughter cold and dead in her grasp. A post-mortem developed that death was due to apoplexy.

Another Spanish victory! Spain shouts. Will somebody tell him when he is licked? He don't realize that he is badly "done up" already. You may not realize that your linen is badly "done up," either, until you compare it with some of the exquisite work done at this laundry. Our laundry work is simply perfect, and can't be improved on. A test is all we need to make you a patron always.
